Topic	WW2	War	River and South America		The Romans
Science	In this topic, the children will learn that light travels in straight lines and understand how this allows us to see objects. They will also use this to understand how shadows are formed.	In this topic, the children will identify and name the main parts of the human circulatory system, and describe the functions of the heart, blood vessels and blood. They will understand the impact of diet, exercise, drugs and lifestyle on the way their bodies function.	In this topic, the children will describe how living things are classified into broad groups including micro-organisms, plants and animals. They will also give reasons for classifying plants and animals based on specific characteristics.	In this topic, the children will learn that living things have changed over time and that fossils provide information about living things. They will recognise that living things produce offspring of the same kind, but normally offspring vary and are not identical to their parents. They will identify how animals and plants are adapted to suit their environment in different ways and that adaptation may lead to evolution.	In this topic, the children will learn to associate the brightness of a lamp or the volume of a buzzer with the number and voltage of cells used in the circuit. They will compare and give reasons for variations in how components function in a circuit.	In the summer term the children will focus on the skills of working scientifically. They will plan different types of enquiry to answer their own questions. They take measurements and record data in different ways. They will then report and present their findings.
History	In this topic, the children will learn about WW2 and the impact it had on normal people. They will consider war on the home front, including the evacuation of children and rationing. They will also consider the wider impact on the war and learn about the holocaust.	In this topic, the children will consider the concept of war and look at the fact that conflict has been a key feature in many periods of history. They will consider the main reasons for war including religion, land, politics and resources. They look at modern day conflict and how this has changed before learning about conflicts that are occurring now and the impact that they have.			In this topic, the children will look at the Roman Empire. They will look at the reasons behind the Julius Caesar invasion of Britain and relate this to their work on the Celts back in year 3. They will learn about Boudicca and her rebellion. Finally, the children will compare the Romans to the Greeks and decide who were the most advanced.
Geography			In this topic, the children will learn about rivers. They will learn about their key features and impacts that they have had upon settlements. They will consider the impact on flooding on people and look at ways in which environmental agencies are working to combat this. They will also study the River Amazon.	In this topic, the children will learn about lines of longitude and latitude and understand that these are a measure of a place's location on the planet. They will locate places in both North and South America and plan a journey that would cross both continents. They will consider the places of interest along the way and the time zones they would cross.
